Supervisors of Election. Kesterday the swearing in of Supervisors of Elecon was continued in the United States Court be-bre the Chief Supervisor. From an early hour in the morning until late in the afternoon the federal building was crowded with a gang of rough-looking fellows, waiting for their papers of appointment. Here and there in the throng might be seen a respectable looking, well-dressed man; but this only served all the more strongly to mark the contrast that was rendered so apparent (and not only apparent but real) in the multitude of political rowdles that docked around the place. The latter were of that class which might be seen in the heat of a contested election bumming around the low barrooms and wile grogeries of the city. They smoked rotten rights and covered the floors and staircases with tobacco juice. It will taken week to clean the building; and it would do great deal of good if the Court were subjected to a thorough ventilation after the fumes of yesterday.

Deputy Marshals are being sworn in to aid the supervisors of Election in the discharge of their duty. There will be one chief deputy marshal for each Assembly district in this city besides a large number of deputies to look after the voting on boiling day.

James Owens, an old offender, was tried and convicted of grand larceny from the person, having on the 18th of August stolen a silver watch and $30 in money from James D. Bryant. His Honor sent him to Sing Sing Prison for five years.

Ellen O'Brien, Anna McGovern, Jane Reilly and Charles McCann, who, on the sth of August, burglariously entered the premises of Jacob Cohn, 125 Mott street, pleaded guilty to an attempt to commit that offence. They were each sent to the State Prison for two years and six months.

John Glackner, alias John Hannigan, and Joseph Burnet were tried upon a charge of burglariously entering the premises of James Mulligan, No. 4 Pike Street, on the 26th of August, and stealing coats and pantaloons valued at $105. The evidence showed that a portion of the stolen property was found in Glackner's room, but he swore that he was in the habit of befriending Burnet, who brought the goods to his place, and also showed by the officers in the precinct that he had never been charged with theft before. The other prisoner swore that he did not have anything to do with the burglary, and the only testimony against him was the fact of his being seen to cross the street at an early hour in the morning and beep into the store where the burglary was committed.

The jury failed to agree upon a verdict and were discharged at a late hour yesterday afternoon.

In the Marine Court there are over one thousand cases on the calendars, notwithstanding the constant and prolonged sittings of the judges and their earnest desire to relieve litigants from the expense and interruption of business consequent upon attendance in Court and the fees to counsel. The one thing most needed for the more prompt discharge of the ever increasing pressure of business on this Court, is the requisite accommodation for the judges to hold the several terms of the Court. The Board of Supervisors has been frequently appealed to and the necessity of prompt action in this respect submitted to their attention; but little has yet been done to render the court rooms even moderately comfortable for the coming Winter. There is no time to be lost in improving the present condition of things in the Marine Court, and the sconer the Board of Supervisors issues the necessary instructions to this end the better.

BROOKLYN COURTS.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

An Important Point of Practice. In the United States Circuit Court, Brooklyn, a plaintiff commenced a suit by summons and complaint similar to the State Court practice, suppos ing it to be allowable under a recent act of Congress assimilating the federal practice to the practice in the State Courts in common law cases. A motion was made to set aside the proceeding on the ground that the practice did not justify proceeding in that way. Judge Benedict granted the motion.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER,

A Quintette of Alleged Murderers.
Before Judge Pratt and Associate Justices.
There were four murder cases before the Court yesterday. The case of Dr. Lucius B. Irish and Mrs. Anderson, who are indicted on the charge of havderson, was called, when District Attorney Winchester Britton asked for a postponement of the trial, in consequence of the absence of Dr. Doremus in Europe. The Doctor made a chemical analysis of Anderson's stomach, and found that it contained quite a quantity of poison.

Mr. Morris appeared for the prisoners. There being no objections to a postponement, the trial was set down for the 21st inst. The prisoners were remanded. ing poisoned the latter's husband, Edward Q. An-

Henry Rogers, the young fellow indicted for the murder of Policeman Donahue with a cart rung, on North First street, between Tenth and Eleventh bar and pleaded not guilty. Counsellor Cooncy, for the defence, asked for a postponement, as he was not ready to proceed.

District Attorney Britton said that Rogers had been notified that he was to be tried and told to retain counsel. However, he did not oppose a postponement, and the case goes over until next Tuesday.

Fanny Hyde's Second Trial. Mr. Britton was ready to proceed with the sec-cond trial of Mrs. Fanny Hyde, who was indicted on the charge of murdering George Watson, her employer, on the 26th of January last, at his factory, in the Eastern District.

Mr. Morris, her counsel, wanted a postponement of the matter until Monday, in order that he might prepare for a motion to have the trial go off for the term. The case was accordingly postponed until Monday.

Wife Murder. The trial of John Fitzpatrick, indicted on the charge of killing his wife, was set down for the 23d inst. The prisoner has been admitted to bail.

The Election Frauds—What is Ballot Box Stuffing!—The Case of Alderman Dunne and Patrick Keenan—Mysterious Disapthis Whole Thing a Political Dodge? Before Judge Neilson.

The case of Alderman James Dunne of the Sixth ward, and Patrick Keenan, who are charged with having stuffed the ballot boxes in the first district of the Sixth ward, was before Judge Neilson yesterday afternoon for examination. The proceedings against the accused are based on an affidavit of one John McKenna, at whose store, No. 65 Atlantic street, the polls were held at the last election. McKenna stated in his affidavit (which was submitted by the convicted canvasser Weldon in support of a motion for a new trial of his own case) that on the night before election Dunne and Keenan entered room where the ballot boxes were kept, and that after they left the boxes were partially filled with ballots. McKenna has been missing since the publication of his amdavit, and the efforts of the District Attorney to secure his presence yesterday were in vain.

Both of the accused were in Court yesterday afternoon, attended by their counsel, Mr. S. D. Morris. There were many local politicians present who appeared to take a great interest in the case-

THE MISSING WITNESS.

District Attorney Britton, addressing the Court, said he was compelled most reluctantly to ask for a postponement of this matter. Of course it is obvious he could not proceed without the presence of McKenna, who made this addayit in this Court. As soon as this addayit had come to his knowledge he (Mr. Britton) instructed an officer who was acquainted with McKenna to find him and not lose sight of him. He was apprehensive, as often happened in such matters, that there would be some proceeding or other by which McKenna might not be produced. The officer had been unable to find him, and that it was reported he had leit. Mr. Britton said he had read in one of the public papers purporting to have been written by the fugitive and indicating that he was somewhere in the neighborhood. Now, there had been a serious offence committed here by some-body; either this berson who made the adiavit has been guilty of perjury on the one side, in making if, or the men whom he had charged to be quiet had been guilty of a serious offence. It was not for Mr. Britton to say which it was. But it was exceedingly important to the administration of justice whichever it might be, the parties should be brought to trial and punished. It could not be done, however, without evidence, "I desire," continued Mr. Britton, "to say here, in the presence of the reporters for the press, and it is through them we reach the public, that if there is any person who knows where McKenna is or has any information as to his whereabouts the office which I represent would be exceedingly thankful if they would produce it, in order that we may be able to procure his attendance. In the meantime I ask for a post-ponement for a reasonable time.

A POLITICAL DODGE.

Mr. Morris said he joined with the District Attorney in the request that if there was any person who had any knowledge of McKenna's whereabouts that they should furnish it. He had told Dunne and Keenan to employ a detective to find him if possible and have him in Court. They were desirous of having him here. Mr. Morris disagreed with the District Attor aid he was compelled most reluctantly to ask for a postponement of this matter.

affidavit. It had a very suspicious look, and, to speak the truth, the whole thing was gotten up, manufactured to order, just at this time for political purposes without any idea that any offence could be made out. Mr. Morris said he understood also that a man named Weldon, who was sent to the Penitentiary for perpetrating frauds upon the ballot boxes in that district while an inspector, had made an adidavit setting forth, among other things, that he believed McKenna's adidavit was true. Counsel alluded to the evidence on Wellon's trial, and said that Weldon then swore there were no ballots in the boxes, and, in fact, that he was entirely innocent of the whole transaction. He did not even know why there was glass on two sides of the boxes; didn't know what that meant, although he had been an inspector two or three times before, and an active ward politician for ten years; he now came forward with his affidavit and swore that he was innocent of the whole transaction. Mr. Morris said it was not necessary for him to say anything more in regard to him. Another point made by counsel was that McKenna's affidavit charges no offence against these defendants whatever. Assuming it to be true, there was no offence charged.

Suppose there were ballots in the boxes, what evidence was it? Under what law would these defendants be indicted? Suppose these boxes had been sent there with the ballots of the previous election; for after a canvass of the vote they some times threw the ballots into the boxes again. Suppose the man who made these boxes suffed them full of ballots for a joke and delivered them to the inspectors. What evidence would that be? About as much as it would be if you stuffed yeur shoes in the boxes. Mr. Morris submitted that there was nothing at all in the complaint.

Mr. Britton asked that the case be postponed until a week from Saturday, and in the meantimo the search for McKenna would be continued.

Mr. Britton asked that the case be postponed until a week from Saturday, and in the meantimo the sageth for t

Mr. Britton inquired what if the inspectors were parties to the fraud?

Judge Neilson—My attention has not been called to this question now presented, and of course I have no knowledge of any motive laying at the foundation of this complaint. I can only Pay that these papers were presented by a respectable member of the Bar of New York, who desired to be heard on a motion to correct the record, upon which record it appeared that this man (Weldon) was deemed guilty. As the case had been tried before Judge McCue I was obliged to say I would submit the papers to him, and I did so. I didn't sympathize with the object of the motion or see the propriety of it. As it stands it is very desirable to all parties that this matter should be inquired into, and with as little delay as possible. I am inclined to think an adjournment until Saturday. All parties then retired, District Attorney Britton remarking as he went that he would give $100 to the man who produced McKenna.

Keenan Again-Fined $100 for a Misdemeanor-A City Hall Practice De

Before Judge Moore and Associates. Some months since Patrick Keenan plead guilty to a misdemeanor in having certified, while Commissioner of Deeds, that two certain parties had appeared and swore before him as sureties to a contract bond. Yesterday morning Judge Moore fined him $100. In passing sentence the Court, alluding to the delay, said:-The delay in sentencing you has been occasioned by the fact that this indictment for felony has been hanging over you, and it is not usual to punish for a mere technical misdemeanor while the charge for a graver offence is undisposed of. It is understood that the District Attorney does not intend to try that indictment, because he is satisfied that there is no proof on which you can be convicted. That having been distinctly ascertained it is proper now to proceed to sentence. There has never been the slightest intention not to sentence you, and the delay in sentencing you has been due to myself and I take the responsibility for it. I did it for proper reasons, and will do the same thing under similar circumstances. It is also proper for me to say that the delay has not been possed has been because rumors have been of times you have come to me and asked me to pass sentence so that the matter might be finished up. Another reason why sentence has not been passed has been because rumors have been abroad that there are some improper reasons why the forgery indictment was not tried. These rumors finally took tangible shape by publication in a newspaper. Then it became necessary to have the matter investigated. This has been done by the Grand Jury and their report has been published.

THE WAY IT IS DONE A "THE HALL."

I understand, and am told upon authority which I cannot disbelleve, that It has been a practice in the City Hall to prepare these proposals in precisely the way in which you prepared these, and that when it has been done to you or somebody else and say "I want such and such a contract. I will do it for so much; you make out the papers and sign my name to them." It certainly was not the right way to do, but you did nothing different from what has been done on very many occasions. I do not propose to visit the sins of others upon you. It is simply right and fair to punish you for the act of which you individually are guilty. Of course any commissioner of Deeds convicted of this offence is deprived thereby of his office. tencing you has been occasioned by the fact that this indictment for felony has been hanging over

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

First Step Towards Inaugurating Its Practical Working in New York-Can-didates for Higher Offices Accepted Only from Present Incumbents-Wha Was Accomplished Yesterday - The Standard of Proficiency, &c.

April 16, 1872, an executive order was issued by the President of the United States in relation to the Civil Service bill, amendatory to a similar order promulgated in connection with the "grouping" of positions in the various public departments in which existing or occurring vacancies are required to be filled. This the law demands to be done by competitive examinations, which are presided over and determined by

appointed by the head of the department and conirmed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

In this city the Custom House and its agents, as also the Sub-Treasury, received orders to organize boards of examiners, which was done with the following result:-

Collector C. A. Arthur nominated for his department Deputy Collector Thomas L. James, Chairman; Special Deputy Collector John R. Lydecker and Special Deputy Surveyor James L. Benedict as his Board. Naval Officer A. H. Laflin designated Colonel Silas W. Burt, Chairman, and Messrs. Robert Etheridge and Andrew W. Greene to examine candidates for places in his Bureau. William A. Darling, Appraiser, selected for his Examination Board Special Deputy Appraiser John A. Bausch, Colonel James Burt and Assistant Appraiser
Henry A. Sturgess. General Thomas Hilhouse,
Assistant United States Treasurer, designated Messrs. William G. White, Chairman, and Messrs.
Charles H. Patterson and F. C. Field, of his office, and had them confirmed as examiners of applicants for places.

We have from time to time given publicity to

we have from time to time given publicity to THE INAUGURATION OF THE CIVIL SERVICE SYSTEM, and in a great measure prepared aspirants for the qualifications required of them to attain a situation under the general government, by publishing copious Extracts of the law and the regulations adopted by the department at Washington and the local boards in this city.

On Sunday we laid before our readers the seven rules governing examination which are to be applied by the examiners to candidates for positions in the Custom House. Yesterday morning, at nine o'clock, the above-mentioned Boards met in their apartments, located on the top story of the Custom House, in the southeast corner of the building, expressly fitted up for that purpose and possessing every convenience. According to law, the several Boards organized from their number the several Boards organized from their number the several Board, of which Colonel Shas W. Burt was elected presiding officer. The functions of this Board consist in deciding upon questions wherein applicants consider themselves aggrieved by not obtaining justice from the local Boards, whether real or imaginary.

The first day designated for examinations was obtaining justice from the local Boards, whether real or imaginary.

The first day designated for examinations was yesterday, when competition for a $2,000 clerkship was participated in by ten applicants, who, however, hold positions of a lower grade in the Custom House, and whose right it is to demand promotion, provided they demonstrate the proper qualifications required. The competitors are a fine-tooking and intelligent set of gentlemen, and certainly demonstrate, by their physique and manner of answering the propounded questions, that their employment by the government is in every manner creditable to the service.

The examinations are conducted with precision to the service.

The examinations are conducted with precision and silence, without fear or favor, and in the most straightforward mander. The questions are printed on blanks, which the candidate receives one at the time to fill in. These questions consist of a number of varied subjects bearing on the business transacted in the Bureau to which the applicant desires an appointment. As soon as all the contestants have concluded their examination, the documents filled in by each man are carefully scanned and the merita determined upon by the Board of Examiners. Three names of the most competent are selected and submitted to the head of the Bureau in which the vacancy exists, and from these three a recommendation is made by him to the department at Washington for confirmation. The proficiency of candidates is determined by a scale, which may be illustrated as follows, the classification and relative weights of the subjects being arbitrarily assumed for the purpose:—

standing on scale of 100.

The next examination takes place to-day, when a $1,600 clerkship in the Naval Office (now vacant) will be competed for by clerks already employed there for promotion. Outsiders cannot apply for this place, which is only simple justice to the present incumbents and an incontive to faithful employes' for further advancement. On Thursday vacancies for a $1,500 clerkship in the Collector's department—two day and two night inspectors—will be competed for, for which a great number of applications are already on file.

If the civil service, as proposed to be administered by the law and existing regulations, is strictly carried out, this branch of the government must necessarily attain the height of proficiency. Prones and incompetency will not be tolerated, and examinations for qualifications cannot prove otherwise than highly beneficial.

WITH ALL HIS FAULTS SHE LOVES HIM STILL Mary Street, of 143 East Twenty-sixth street, was arrested Sunday night and locked up in the Thir tieth street station house on complaint of Mary Conrad, of 234 West Twenty-fifth street, and George of Stanton, Sheldon & Co., 109 Front street. The story of the defendant, upon being arraigned before Justice Cox, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, yesterday morning, was to the effect that about two years ago she formed the acquaintance of the clerk, whose salary was not sufficient to support them both. As she became fondly attached to him she adopted the name of Mary Street Shotwell, and assisted him in paying his bills. A short time since he, becoming tired of her, took up with Mary Courad, and went to live with her as man and wife. This so enraged Miss Street that she took occasion to follow them through the street and make use of language that was not at all pleasant to the fickle George and his lady love. She was placed under $300 bonds to give them no further annoyance. of Stanton, Sheldon & Co., 100 Front street. The

FELONIOUS ASSAULT WITH A STONE.

Michael Callahan, a young man, was presented before Justice Cox, at Jefferson Market, yesterday morning, by an officer of the Thirty-seventh stree station, on complaint of Della Canavan, of 514 West station, on complaint of Delia Canavan, of 514 West Forty-third street, charged with felonious assault. The complainant states, while passing along the street Sunday afternoon, the prisoner hit her on the head with a stone, indicting a severe wound. Callahan was placed under $300 bonds to appear and answer the charge, and the complainant was sent to the House of Detention.

THE ATTEMPTED WIFE MURDER.

John O'Connor, of 436 Third avenue, who, on Sun day night, mode a desperate effort to kill his wife Catharine, was arraigned at the Yorkville Police Court yesterday. The poor wife, who was hardly able to walk, so weak was she from the effects of her injuries, was present in Court and swore to a charge of murder against her husband. Her husband was committed for trial at the General Sessions. -
